Description :

I love photographing people, capturing and creating evocative and romantic images that tells a story of a precise moment in time, causing the viewer to stop and think about what's happening in the image and the people in it. As a documentary and portrait photographer, I work in the background and out of your guest's way. I don't shout at anyone or ask them to move, stand or pose. Instead I look for stories that are charged with emotion from people chatting, laughing and crying, to kids playing and perhaps the odd guest catching forty winks!

When photographing wedding portraits, I choose poses that are natural and timeless, which makes the bride and groom feel at ease in front of the lens, creating great photographs. When I'm at the wedding venue of choice, I look for backgrounds that bring great compositional value to the images, bringing the best out of the bride and groom.
